Too Inquisitive.

A prototype of the famous Mullett boy, of Arkansas, lives here in Duluth. After returning from church last Sunday, he sat in a very thoughtfull attitude for a while and then he asked:

"Pa, didn't the preacher say that he that believeth shall be saved, and he that believeth not shall be damned?"

"Yes, my son."

"Wasn't it swearing for 'im to say so?"

"Oh, no!"

"Why wan't it?"

"Because the word used in that connection is not to be regarded as profane."

"If I was to say that you would be damned if you didn't believe, would that be swearing?"

"Not at all—but don't ask so many questions."

"Would it be swearin' if I'd say damn you if you don't?"

"There, there my son; you are carrying it too far. Be quiet now, for heaven's sake."

"Will ma be damned if she don't believe?"

"Certainly."

"And me too?"

"Of course."

"And the dog too?"

"Oh! for goodness sake hush! You drive me crazy."

"Say, pa, would Jack, the crazy man be damned if he didn't believe?"

"Yes! Yes! Yes! Yes! Yes! Now hush."

"Then he'd be like Oscar Wilde, wouldn't he?"

"No, he wouldn't."

"Yes he would!"

"He would not, and now if you don't dry up I'll thrash you."

"But he would, pa."

"How would he?"

"Why, didn't I hear you say that Oscar Wilde was a damned idiot, and if crazy Jack was to be—"

But before he could conclude the sentence a concession remote from his talking machine claimed his immediate attention.—[Duluth (Minn.) Tribune.]

Cox was sentenced to a month's imprisonment at Rutland, Vt., for selling alcoholic beverages, but had the alternative of paying a fine instead of any time within 24 hours. He refused to pay for his liberty until he found that, as a prisoner, he must part with his beard, which reached to his waist and had been 25 years growing. The Warrent said it was then too late and ordered the barbers to do his duty. Cox was held fast and his face roughly shaved without using any lather or first clipping off the whiskers with the scissors. He caught cold and nearly died in consequence of this treatment. He sued for damages, and two trials have resulted in verdicts of heavy amounts against the Warrent; but each time there was an informality, and a third jury will hear the case.

Eighteen hundred visitors registered at the various hotels at Jacksonville, Fla., last week, whilst a number of others secured accommodations at the boarding houses. They were mostly from the Eastern States and New York City, though there was a considerable sprinkling from the West. The crowd at some of the larger hotels would compare with a hotel crowd at Saratoga or Newport. A Jacksonville letter says: "The Yankees are crowding in, buying and planting orange groves everywhere, while the natives are picking whortleberries and playing with parrots."

Lumber is now being manufactured from straw, the standard size being 32 inches in width, 12 feet in length and the thickness the same as the average of surfaced boards. One ton of any kind of straw will yield 1,000 feet of boards that may be handled as ordinary ones. The lumber can be produced and sold in competition with white walnut at about one-half the price of the latter.

In Lyons, France, the cold bath method of treating typhoid fever has been adopted with marked success. In the civil hospitals the death rate was reduced from 26 to 9 per cent., and in private practice to 1 or 2 per cent.

Silk Kerchiefs and Silk Throats.

Why Quail Eating is a Difficult Feat.
Says throat vanish when encircled in a silken kerchief. This is established beyond peradventure. The grandmothers know all about this a hundred years ago. They believed, too, that silk would cure all other illnesses and some thought it would heal a broken leg, "if only taken in time." We do not go so far as that, but we know that silk will absorb and store electricity as a Leyden jar. It forms an essential for the electricity cylinder, and, rubbed with quicksilver, has a mysterious power that impresses us to its retention. The electrical forces of silk is due to its elasticity and the medical faculty recommended silk hose and shirts for a thousand diseases. As we are not a professional, we only take silk by the throat, and we know its wonderful powers. We will give a sure recipe: When you have the throat trouble, give a nice, clean silk handkerchief to your sweetheart, with a request to tie it around your neck. If you are not cured, or choked by tender hands, we have made a mistake. The more expensive the kerchief the surer the cure, because your pet takes so long to examine the quality and get it just right, so it won't hurt. Try it and go home cured. We expect silk handkerchiefs will advance in price when this matter is understood.—[Dry Goods Bulletin.]

OLD FASHIONED BUCKWHEAT CAKES.—Put some lukewarm water in the batter pail, add salt, handful of meal, buckwheat flour enough to make a batter of the desired thickness, then add yeast to raise it. Be sure to make the batter thick enough, for it can easily be thinned, when wanted to bake, with a little milk, which will make the cakes more tender and of a beautiful brown. Stir up the batter at night; let it rise until morning, and bake; the next night add more lukewarm water, salt, and sufficient flour to thicken as before. If the cake should be slightly sour, dissolve a little soda in some warm water, just before baking, and add. It is well to use the batter all up once in two weeks, or thereabouts, and start again.

A BRIDE'S DEMAND.—This is an age of progress. A young bride in Milton a few days ago insisted that the minister should insert in the marriage vows a clause forbidding the husband to kiss any woman but his wife and near relatives. After some hesitation the young man consented. He was afterwards heard to say, however, that he had a great many cousins whom he had never met and that he would not be positive that every other girl in Northumberland county was not a near relative.—[Philadelphia Times.]

The false story told by a Denver boy, of having been robbed of a large amount of his employer's money, was subjected to the closest cross-examination without developing the slightest contradiction, and would have been believed, though in itself improbable, if at the last moment a written copy of it, down to the minutest details, had not accidentally been found in his desk. He then confessed that he had stolen the cash, after composing the tale and studying it for six months.

An extremely affectionate husband and wife at Laramie, Ga., do not mean to be separated in death. They have had a coffin made wide enough for two, and a grave dug to hold it. Their plan is that when one dies the other shall immediately commit suicide so that the bodies may be buried at the same time, while their souls simultaneously enter eternity.

Longdale, postmaster at Greencastle, Ind., and also an editor, is an able man. He keeps standing at the head of his column: "C. A. Arthur for President; 1884." When any one files an application to be appointed postmaster in his stead, he quickly mails the President a marked copy of his paper and renews his office.

This is a nice time of night for you to be coming in," said a mother to her daughter who returned from a walk at 10 o'clock. "When I was like you," continued she, "my mother would not allow me out later than 7 o'clock." "Oh! you had a nice sort of a mother," murmured the girl. "I had, you young jade, a nicer mother than you ever had," said the mother.

Indianapolis has been for years considered the greatest railroad centre in the West, because twelve railroads run direct into it. But at the present time Des Moines has eleven main roads centering there, and two others that, for want of accommodations, run in on leased lines, making thirteen distinct companies.

The plantation philosopher of the Arkansas Traveler cynically remarks that "some folks' tributes all do misery of ob diu earth to whisky license, but lem me tell yer what's a fack; marriage license comes in tur a big share ob de 'sponsibility."

An English woman did not die till she had sewed on buttons for nine husbands.

Why FALSE TEETH ARE MADE.

A reporter of the Star recently visited a factory in this city where false teeth are made by the million. In the process of manufacture the silex and feldspar in their crude state are submitted to a red heat and then suddenly thrown into cold water, the effect being to render them more easily pulverized. Having been ground very fine in water and the water evaporated, the two materials mentioned are dried and sifted. The kaolin is washed free from impurities. These materials, with feldspar, sponge, platinum and tin in proper proportion for the enamel, are mixed with water and worked into masses resembling putty. This done, the matched porcelain masses are ready for the molding room. The molds are in two pieces and are made of brass, one-half of the teeth or sections being on either side. The coloring materials are first placed in the exact position and quantity required, and the body of the tooth and the gum is inserted in lumps corresponding to the size of the teeth. The molds are then closed and they are dried by a slow heat. When perfectly dry they are taken out and sent to the trimmer's room. The trimmers remove imperfections and send them in trays of five to the furnace, where, having remained for twenty minutes, they are complete.—[Washington Star.]

THE SPECTER OF THE TICKSBURG STIGE.

I remember to have been standing on a knoll in front of my headquarters on a beautiful night listening to the fire of batteries. The moon was out in all its splendor, and the dashes that gleamed from the mouths of a hundred guns could be seen for miles to the right and left. Standing upon an adjacent hill to my right a tall figure was seen clothed in white. It seemed to be that of a man at least seven feet high, but the uniform was not that of a soldier. In tones never to be forgotten and that echoed from hill to valley and from valley to hill, the words "Cease firing" were heard from his uncouth-looking figure, as though he was commanding the world and giving the order, "By kingdom, right wheel." Summoning up all the courage at my command, I hailed him with the inquiry, "Who on earth are you?" The prompt and emphatic response was: "I am Gen. Burbridge's orderly in my night skirt,"—Gen. Landrum.

IN THE DAYS OF CHARLEMAGNE.

The rudeness of the conquering races regarding meads is shown by the manner in which the table of Charlemagne was served. The Emperor dined at midday alone. The Dukes and Princes waited on him and dined at the same table when he had done. They were succeeded by the Counts and high functionaries, who were waited on and replaced by the military suites, and so on through several gradations down to the lowest class of domestics, whose turn seldom arrived before midnight. At the same time Charlemagne encouraged the production of fruit and flowers, as adding to the enjoyment of the people, and was pleased when any special deficiency was presented to him. The Genevese trout are honorably mentioned in the capitularies, and it will be remembered that one of these trout, supplied to Cambaceres by the municipality of Geneva, was charged 300 francs in their accounts. The first to transgress the sumptuary laws of Charlemagne were his wives (he was nine times married) and his daughters, who figured at court festivals and in the hunting field with purple robes or sables and coronets set with precious stones.

We have heard of many shrewd advertising dodges on the part of managers and agents, but the following corrals the sweetest dough: Dave Thomas, one of Barnum's agents, succeeded in effecting an adjournment of the New Hampshire Legislature during a visit of the show at the capital in rather a daring manner. He got a reporter of one of the dailies to write out a series of resolutions relating to the death of some prominent person, and, handing them to one of the legislators, the latter moved that the Legislature adjourn out of respect to his memory. They were read, adopted and an adjournment had before the wise men of the body discovered that the individual referred to had been dead over three months. The legislators went to the circus, all the same, however, and took the whole city with them.

The Southern Railway Gazette, which has been looking into the matter, discovers that the South is better provided with water power than any other section of the country. This is peculiarly so of the Atlantic slope, the four States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia having water-power equivalent to 14,000,000 horse power, four times that of all the steam engines in the world. The Youghiogheny river of North Carolina alone has force sufficient to turn 12,000,000 spindles.

"Uncle John," said little Emily, "do you know that a baby that was fed on elephant's milk gained twenty pounds in one week?" "Nonense! Impossible!" exclaimed Uncle John, and then he asked, "Whose baby was it?" "Oh! you had a nice sort of a mother," murmured the girl. "I had, you young jade, a nicer mother than you ever had," said the mother.

BURNISH OF THEATERS.

It is record in Germany that in the past 272 years not fewer than 623 theaters have been burned down in various parts of the world. This is an average of nearly two per year. During the past century there was a large increase in the percentage over the preceding time. For the hundred years the total number was 460, or more than four-fifths of the total for the 272 years. For the period included between 1771 and 1828 the average was thirteen per annum.

W. P. WALTON, EDITOR

A "Subscribers" writes to ask if we were not loud in praise of Dr. Blackburn before his election. We were not as to his qualifications for Governor, but on the contrary quite the reverse, and if "Subscriber's" recollection was as long as his ears, he could bear us out in the assertion. Our files do at any rate. When the Dr. risked his life for the sake of the yellow fever sufferers, we were then loud in his praise because we imagined it the disinterested act of a philanthropist, but his subsequent acts convinced us that he was actuated by ulterior motives, which were far from being philanthropic. In fact it came out so plain as to leave no room for doubt, that the Dr.'s "disinterestedness" was for the purpose of giving him a boom for Governor, which he worked for all it was worth. We were never of those who believed that a yellow fever doctor would necessarily make a good Governor and therefore before the Convention which nominated Blackburn, advocated Judge Lindsey as the proper man to succeed Gov. McCready. The Doctor made one speech in Stanford, however, that we applauded, especially that portion in which he characterized as "hucksters" those alleged democrats who refuse to vote for a nominee unless he happens to be their choice in the first place and who always deserted their colors, when they should be found in solid phalanx fighting the enemy. "Are you not a moralist?" again asks "Subscriber." We again answer in the negative, especially if he means "one who prides himself on relies solely upon his external rectitude or virtues." We try to be a moral man and endeavor to inculcate in the minds of our readers that excellent virtue, but at the same time we trust we are possessed of some of that charity which vaunteth not itself at the expense of others. To the last question, "Do you not think it is best for the country to elect men to office who can establish a clear record of sobriety?" we very sincerely reply in the affirmative, and we will not, if we know it, advocate any man for position who drinks to excess, though some men who drink are better qualified than others, who like the "Subscriber" pride themselves, no doubt on their abstemious habits. And now may we ask you just one question? Who the devil are you, and why did you not sign your name to your interrogatories like a man?

The advance sheets of the report of pardons, remissions of fines, &c., granted by the Governor and ordered to be printed by an act of the last Legislature, have at last appeared and show that in the first eighteen months of Blackburn's term, he granted 845 pardons alone, including 24 for murder and every other crime known in the category. An account of the remissions of fines, &c., also ordered to be reported seems to have been omitted, and as the Blackburns seem to be a law unto themselves, it is hardly probable that the order of the Legislature will be enforced.

The Covington Commonwealth will examine the Louisville Commercial, of the 10th, it will see that the democrat, who figured upon the vote in the gubernatorial convention did give the names of the counties and the way they would instruct. So far as we can gather, the list is, with some exceptions, about as trustworthy a one as could be formulated.

The course of Gov. Blackburn, of Kentucky, and Gov. Stephens, of Georgia, suggests to the Louisville Democrat the idea that it would be a good thing to avoid old men henceforth in the selection of candidates for Governor. The morals of both these States have been damaged and crime encouraged by a too free use of the pardoning power.

The two or three democrats that live in Harlan county met last Monday and declared for Col. Jones for Governor, but as their action was informal and the county has only one vote in the State Convention, the other candidates are not alarmed. Harlan gave a republican majority in the last general election of over 600.

The Paducah Journal, just resuscitated by the veteran editor and publisher, Col. H. M. McCarty, is a model both in matter and typography. We are pleased to place it on our exchange list and to welcome the Col. back into the ranks in which he is so well fitted to labor.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Anderson News signs himself "au au," thereby showing that he is better acquainted with himself than the average scribbler will generally admit.

REVIEWING the results of the great flood, the Louisville Post says: "The flooded districts will, of course, be fertile for disease. The low ground that is flooded can not be drained in many parts of the city, and the water must be left to evaporate from the stagnant and filthy pools. All the houses that are left standing will be unfit for habitation for months, yet the people will move into them as soon as the water is off the floors. A malarial epidemic seems almost certain. If it can be confined to the districts that are flooded, the city will be fortunate; but there are grounds for serious fears that it may become general."

THE Covington Commonwealth speaks thus roughly of our much respected State Central Committee: "The Democrats of Kentucky have the most unscrupulous State Committee of which history gives any account. The majority of the members are small partisans, who consider it their privilege to make use of the position to advance the interests of one of the can-candor for Governor by detracting from the claims and merits of other candidates. The conduct of a member of the Committee in actively electioneering against Col. Jones, has drawn out the animosities of several Democratic newspapers."

THE trial of Craft is progressing without incident, save that an anonymous letter from a crank, warning the Marshal of the town to remove at once all women and children to places of safety, created some alarm among the soldiers and caused them to spend a sleepless night waiting for the arrival of the supposed mob of 500 angry citizens. But they didn't come, nor will they come. A fourth of the number of soldiers could easily protect the miserable prisoners.

THE floods are subsiding and the Ohio is falling at Cincinnati at the rate of one inch per hour and at 3 A. M., yesterday marked 59 feet 8 inches.

At Louisville at the same time it was 41 feet 10 inches and falling.

—The Arkansas Legislature has passed a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor within three miles of any church or school-house, upon a petition of the adult inhabitants of the neighborhood.

—Jay Gould subscribed $1,000 for the relief of sufferers in the Ohio valley. J. W. Garrett $2,000, George W. Childs, of Philadelphia, $1,000, and Drexell Morgan & Co., of New York, $5,000.

—The fact that 300 persons lost their lives and more than 1,000 were wounded in the coal mines of Pennsylvania last year, is causing the Legislature of State to take steps to protect the lives of the miners.

—An electrolyte plate for printing Confederate ten-cent postage stamps was found at Atlanta Saturday, and a number of imitations printed as relics. One thousand dollars was offered the finder for his treasure.

—The building of the new court-house at Lexington has been let to W. E. Bush, of that city, for $96,000 and the work of tearing down the old eye-sore will begin once. The new building is to be of pressed brick with stone finish and stone front.

—There is a hill before the New York Legislature for the State to buy the Niagara Falls property and throw the sublime prospect open to the world. At present it is fenced in by hedges and a round sum charged travelers for the privilege of seeing it.

—The Signal Service Bureau is a rather costly affair and estimating its real value to the people, a quite too expensive luxury. The amount asked to be appropriated for it for the next fiscal year is $1,554,339, more than half a million more than the greatest total hitherto reached.

—THE deepest Atlantic sounding heretofore reported was 8,682 fathoms but the steamer Blake, just arrived at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, beats that by 700 fathoms. This wonderful depth was found 100 miles N. W. of St. Thomas and the record was 4,561 fathoms, equal to 5,1-5 miles.

—WE very cordially second the proposition of the Elizabethtown News that Kentucky demands a better jury system, better schools, better public roads, an abridgment of the pardoning power and a new constitution.

—SOME playful fellow shot two or three times near a sentinel at Camp Grayson and came near scaring the boys to death. Search was made but the joker has not yet been found.

NOTES OF CURRENT EVENTS.

—The loss in Covington by the flood is estimated at $150,000.

—The estate of the late Marshall Jewell will probably exceed $500,000.

—There are 3,400,000 acres of United States land for sale in Mississippi.

—The New Orleans mint has coined by mistake 3,500 gold eagles light weight.

—A mine at Bradwood, Ill., caved in Friday night, and 72 persons perished.

—The business failures of the past week in the United States and Canada number 254.

—Arthur and Grant were pall-bearers at the funeral of Ex-Gov. Morgan, of New York.

—Six girls were dismissed from the Millersburg Female College for carrying notes to the borders.

—Five hundred residences have been overthrown or destroyed by the flood at New Albany, Ind.

—The Tennessee democratic legislative caucus has agreed to a three per cent. rate on the State debt proper.

—The New York Herald subscribed $5,000 to a fund for the benefit of the sufferers by the flood in the Ohio.

—John Smith was sentenced to 18 years in the penitentiary by the circuit court at Lexington, for killing his wife.

—Between one hundred and one hundred and twenty-five tons of mail matter pass through the Chicago post-office daily.

—The lobbyists have grown so powerful and impudent that Senator Edmunds has offered a bill looking to their expulsion.

—Two large iron arms failed Saturday—John V. Ayres' Sons, Chicago, and the Fox River Iron Company, Greenbush, Wis.

—Mrs. Langtry gave a benefit performance for the relief of the flood sufferers at Cincinnati, which netted a large amount.

—A Cincinnati paper says it will take $600,000 to prevent distress by the flood sufferers of that city and but $111,125 has been raised.

—Bills have been introduced in Congress appropriating $600,000 for the relief of the sufferers by the floods of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers.

—One of the sad incidents of the flood at Aurora, Ind., was the funeral of a young lady, when the mourning friends followed the body in boats.

—The American contributions for the relief of the German sufferers that have been received by the President of the Reichstag amount to $100,000.

—Senator Ferry's chances for re-election are weakening. He received but eleven votes Saturday. Jay Hubble confessed to have spent $700 to defeat him.

—Of the 730 murders recorded for the country last year, 212 were committed in the Southern States and 131 were committed in the State of New York alone.

—The Department of Agriculture estimates the cotton crop of 1882 at 6,800,000 bales. About seventeen percent. of the crop remains in the producers' hands.

—The House fixed the salary of the Clerk of the Supreme Court at $8,000.

—Hitherto his fees have been principally in their munificence, amounting to $50,000.

—Five of the prisoners arrested at Alexandria, Egypt, for the murder of Prof. Palmer have been sentenced to death; and the others to from three to fifteen years imprisonment.

—The army should be reduced to ten thousand. West Point should be abolished, and in time of peace, army officers should be promoted from the ranks.—[N. Y. Sun.]

—The State Democratic Committee of Virginia, after an all day session, decided to call a convention at Lynchburg on July 25 for reorganization of the party in that State.

—The Arkansas Legislature has passed a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor within three miles of any church or school-house, upon a petition of the adult inhabitants of the neighborhood.

The election shall be held in the usual voting places of the various precincts, by the persons named below; the vote shall be run over to be taken between the hours of 8 A. M. and 5 P. M., and none but those who voted the democratic ticket at the last general election will be allowed to vote, except they were prevented by absence or sickness and are known by the judges to be good democrats.

When the polls are closed and the count made, the officers of the various voting places shall certify the number of voters that each candidate received, and forward a statement to Monday, April 2d, if possible, to the Chairman of the Committee, who shall, in the presence of the Secretary or any other of the Committee who care to be present, open such returns, and, after ascertaining which of the candidates has received the highest number of votes, declare him nominee of the party.

The following gentlemen are appointed to hold said primary election: At Crab Orchard, John Buchanan, J. G. Moore and Ois Newland; Walnut Flat, Tim W. Higgins, T. C. Coffey, J. H. Tucker; Standard, Judge John M. Phillips, Thos. Richards, J. E. Lynn; Tammerville, J. D. Swope, Jno. Hally, B. G. Hover; Ilionville, F. M. Yowell, Smith Powell, Andy Cowan; Highland, John Young, George Basin, Green Wall; Waynesburg, Frank Howard, Ben Warner, J. L. Bell.

In the absence of one of the persons named, the other two at a precinct can fill the vacancy, and in case none of them are present, the County Committee-man for that precinct shall appoint a new set of officers.

The vote of the two Stanford precincts will be taken together at the Court House, the other precincts will be held as at the regular election. W. G. Welch, Chm.

—Miss LULU ELLIOTT, of Lexington, is the guest of Mrs. Will Swope.

—Mr. ANDREW G. WHITLEY, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting friends here.

—ALEX. ANDERSON, Esq., has consented to resume the pen for us at Danville.

—Mrs. JOHN DINWIDDIE and Miss Matilda have been on visit to their friends here.

—Mr. G. P. BRIGHT went to Louisville, yesterday, to sell his crop of White Burley tobacco, some 5,000 pounds.

—MISS MARY EVANS, of Crab Orchard, and Allie Dunn, of Richmond, are guests of Mrs. Bright, McAlister.

—Mr. R. R. Wiser, our Garrard editor, dropped suddenly on us Friday. It was his first visit to Stanford for many years.

—Mr. J. C. FLORENCE took his sister-in-law, Miss Lizzie Davidson, to Loretta, yesterday to enter her in the Catholic Academy there.

—Dr. E. O. YOUNG, of Lancaster, was here yesterday. He says that there is a great deal of sickness in Garrard, mostly pneumonia.

—Miss LUCILLE BRIGHT has gone to Memphis on a lengthy visit. Mr. Samuel Evans, who has been visiting relatives here returned with her.

—Mr. DENNIS A. SHANAHAN, of Covington, Va., at present a contractor on the K. C. R. R., was in Stanford Saturday. From a little boy, when we saw him last, he has grown into a handsome man, and developed a business capacity while in fact securing him a fortune.

LOCAL MATTERS.

NICE oranges at H. C. Bright's.

CLOVER and Timothy seed at A. Owsley & Son's.

HOWORTH'S HIBERNICA at Opera House, Stanford, March 1.

The postoffice at Disappointment, Clay county, has been discontinued.

FOR SALE—Three handsome residences, Will sell very cheap. Stanford, Dec. 25, '82. W. Craig.

FARMERS and others having grain sacks belonging to Geo. D. Wearen will confer a great favor by promptly returning them.

FARM of 80 acres, in grass, lying on Lancaster pike, 2 miles from town, for sale or rent and horse and buggy for sale. B. G. Allford.

A COLLECTION was taken up at the Presbyterian Church Sunday night for the benefit of the flood sufferers in Louisville and $285 was realized.

CANNED GOODS.—We have them, over two hundred cases bought before the advance. We are selling at small margin by dozen or case. H. C. Bright.

THE Legislative candidates have six weeks to convince the dear people of their fitness. The primary election to settle their claims occurs Saturday, March 31st.

A NIGRO man whose name, we could not learn, fell from the bridge over Cumberland River, near Williamsburg and was found Saturday. His body was recovered.

A HANDSOME line of spring hogs just received at J. W. Haydon's. He will close out at greatly reduced figures all the spring and white hogs carried over from last season.

THE "Duplex Crown" is the most wonderful Sewing Machine ever invented. Can be changed instantly to make either chain or lock stitch. Just out. See them at first, Warren & Co's.

Mr. GEORGE D. WEAREN is still in the field and will keep a fuller line of all kinds of agricultural implements this year than ever. He is a liberal dealer. Read his "ad" in this issue and communicate with him.

MR. SOY. OWENS, of the Clemens House, Danville, desire to apologize to some of his patrons for not furnishing them with disease as promptly as he would like to have done. He was crowded to overflowing was the reason. He promises that it is not happen again.

THE man who pays the cash can get new goods for less money at the New Family Grocery of S. S. Myers, than ever before in Stanford. His stock is new and fresh and his prices low, and he is determined by sticking to the cash system to always keep them low. Call on him to-morrow.

A FIGHT.—The report comes from Crab Orchard that George Moore and Will Carson engaged in a combat Saturday night, in which it is said that Carson was terribly punished, appearing after the battle as if a freight train had passed over him. Moore must have thought he had injured him seriously, as we are told he left by the first train yesterday.

NEW CASH STORE.—S. S. Myers will open to-morrow in the store-room lately occupied as the postoffice, a complete stock of groceries, which he will sell only for cash. His prices will be such as will make it a decided object for the public to deal with him and as he proposes to lose nothing by bad debts, to be made out of those who pay, he will sell at the smallest possible profit. Money saved is money made and you can make it by buying from S. S. Myers.

WASH TUTTLE, the slayer of Wild Bill Catron, was acquitted at Somerset by the examining court.

DALE WOLFORD, of Casey, formerly employed here, spent ten days in the Danville workhouse for carrying weapons concealed.

AFTER a couple of bright and warm days, the weather turned suddenly cold Saturday. A sieving rain fell all day and at night an inch of the beautiful was spread over the earth.

Mr. H. C. RUPLEY, our wide-awake Merchant Tailor, has already opened out a very handsome line of spring garments and pants patterns and will continue to receive new goods right along. Call on him and get first choice of his splendid stock. He keeps nothing but the best.

STANFORD and Ilionville are at last in speaking communication, or will be after to day, when the instruments will be adjusted. Billy Williams, disappointed by the men who had agreed to put the wire up, pulled off his coat and went to work himself and at 7 p. m. Friday he was seen crawling through a window of the INTERIOR JOURNAL building with the wire in his hand. He is a phaser and don't you forget it.

GOING to ENGLAND.—Rev. George O. Barnes, his wife, Miss Maria, Willie and Georgia will embark in the Steamer Pavonia to-morrow for London, England, a gentleman, having offered to pay all expenses.

This Mr. Barnes interpreted as a message from the Lord, that he should go thither and he leaves his home and country to spread his gospel and save sinners till the Lord comes, which he thinks will be in a few years, at most.

—The new Church at Turnerville is about completed at last, and we understand will be dedicated some time in March. This building is quite an ornament and a credit to Turnerville.

—Mr. W. Bailey returned to his home at Turnerville, last week. Mr. H. has been South for some time. Mr. Sam Campbell, from Missouri, who has been on a visit to the "old folk at home," has returned to his family, accompanied by his father, Mr. George Campbell, who went there to see the country with a view of locating.

Mr. Will McCormack and son have got home from Tennessee, with two car load of cattle, and three barrels of Sorghum molasses, yumm yumm!

—CRAB ORCHARD.

—During last week Mr. W. F. Kennedy had a select gathering in her commodious parlor and a more enjoyable evening is but seldom given the wayfarer. Her beautiful and accomplished daughters presided with graceful ease and dignity, winning the love of the gentlemen and praises of the other ladies.

—In speaking of our schools in your issue of last Friday, I failed to mention one of the most successful and popular teachers in our part, for the lady thus neglected, Miss Alice McClure, is a teacher of whom any community might justly feel proud. She is conducting a flourishing school and needs no encomiums from accidental scribblers to guarantee success. I know Miss Alice will not accuse me of intentional discrediting.

—Our new marshal, W. T. Saunders, is a model officer. While quiet and gentle, mainly in his bearing, the known firmness of the man holds the disorderly elements in absolute subjection, and that too without apparent effort upon his part. Mr. Saunders has given bond for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, that would be received without a moment's hesitation from the sheriff of the county, and I take pleasure in giving him a position of unqualified endorsement.

—Col. Estill, of Richmond, uncle of Mrs. James Rice, spent several days with us the first of the week. He was greatly pleased with Crab Orchard and being a magatype of the Kentucky gentleman, we trust he may find it convenient to visit often. Mr. Howard Rice, of Garrard county, is with us and unhesitatingly acknowledges that our young ladies are the fairest of all the earth. Howard is a youth of very accurate judgment. E. W. Jones has embarked in the sheep trade and although the last great storm cost him the third part of his flock, his enthusiasm is not at all abated. R. H. Branaugh considers the election of L. M. Lasley a fore-gone conclusion. Mr. Fox says the Crow people too high. Miss Ada Reese, of Jacksonville, Ill., is visiting the family of Mr. R. Carson. He is sending one look upon a more beautiful woman than Miss Ada. Mr. Wm. James still gives personal attention to his three children; Mrs. Geo. Pherigo, Mrs. John Newland and James Pendleton.

—RELIGIOUS.

—Rev. H. Allen Turner is conducting a protracted meeting at Flemingsburg, with his usual success.

—IN the fifty-two theological seminaries in the United States 2,000 young men are trained by 200 instructors.

—The Presbyterian church at Lexington, Ky., has 200 members, who last year raised over $9,000 for congregational and benevolent causes.

—PETE WILGAR is the oldest Sunday-school superintendent yet heard from. He is 85 and has been superintendent of the same school at Spring Mills, Pa., since 1828.

—THE debate between Revs. Sweeney and Dixler at Horse Cave created little or no interest, the papers of the region almost entirely ignoring it. The fact is the people are getting tired of such busines.

—THE salvation of souls is more important, they think, than discussing whether "haptidio" means to dip or to sprinkle.

—LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—The proprietor of the Lincoln Mills want to buy wheat and corn.

—J. S. Owsley bought 25 long yearlings in Danville yesterday $6 cents.

—George D. Wearen bought of B. F. Cooner 40 barrels corn, delivered, at $2.

—A. W. Carpenter sold to Wyatt Sundridge 27 hogs, averaging 250 lbs., at 6 cts.

—THE collection was taken up at the Presbyterian Church Sunday night for the benefit of the flood sufferers in Louisville and $285 was realized.

—CANNED GOODS.—We have them, over two hundred cases bought before the advance. We are selling at small margin by dozen or case. H. C. Bright.

—WHEN Cincinnati packed more hogs than any city in the Union, Kansas City was merely a small spot on the map, if indeed it had been christened. Now the hog figures for that place are 410,000 for '82-3, against 418,000 in Cincinnati.

—DANVILLE COURT.—Capt. H. T. Bush reports a large crowd at County Court yesterday and some 300 cattle, fair to common grade. The demand was good, best brought $15; common and erratic $3 to 43; nearly all sold. Some aged mules brought $7 to $15 per head. Plow horse dull at $50 to $100; 1 bunch of ewes and lambs sold at $60 per head.

—Mr. H. T. Fish writing from Davilla, Texas, says: We are having a very hard winter, killing thousands of head of stock, especially sheep, freezing to death; food and shelter fail to save them. The mercury has been at low as 10° below zero. The day before the last storm was very pleasant to one in shirt sleeves. One person, a negro, who lived in my vicinity, froze to death while returning home to town.

—LINCOLN COUNTY.

Near McCormick's Church.

—A bouncing big boy at Mr. Montgomery's.

—Mr. M. A. Hinde who has been quite sick, is, in some better, we hear.

—Farmers are getting quite restless, and are anxious to get at their work, only a few days have been suitable for plowing so far.

—There is a great deal of sickness among the colored people; when we coincide, how thinly clad they go it is only a wonder there is not more.

—The new Church at Turnerville is about completed at last, and we understand will be dedicated some time in March. This building is quite an ornament and a credit to Turnerville.

MANNERS.

Some Easy Lessons in Etiquette.
A man is made by his manners. That is, if he has no manners he is no man. Let us look at some of the places where you will show your manners—if you have any.

First, on entering a room. I was in a house waiting to see a gentleman the other day, and a young man entered. His hat was on his head and he did not take it off. He advanced and stood in the center of the room, and put his hands in his pockets. Then he stood up against the wall and leaned against it. Every one pitied him. If you enter the house, take your hat off in the hall and ask for the person you desire to see. If shown into the parlor, step in with your hat in hand and take a seat and wait for his coming. If the master or mistress of the house is in the parlor, with guests, you advance to him or her, and shake hands, if either offer to do so. You converse with him or her a few moments, and then, if others come, step aside. When you decide to retire you come to bid the master or mistress good-night.

Second, at the table. You will have a place shown you, and you will be helped to food. Use your knife and fork properly. Divide the food so as to relieve the teeth of a part of their work—that is, have small mouthfuls. The grinders indicate that grinding in the month is a part of the process of eating. Animals destitute of grinders bolt their food. It is not fit that human beings should eat on which to stand. His individuality is utterly repressed. He is a mere cog-wheel in a great machine. He sinks down at last to the level mediocrity which machines always produce; the noise of grinding, which is intolerable to ears polite, may be effectively disguised. Food, whether liquid or solid, must be conveyed into the month and from the month downward silently.

The position at the table should be unconstrained and easy, the person sitting erect or slightly bent forward when eating, so that the month may be directly above the plate; the arms should be held at the sides, not extended at right angles with the body. The elbows should be kept off the table. Leaning back in one's chair, or balancing on the legs of one's chair, is a grievous violation of table etiquette, permitted only and wrongly to spoiled children. The mouth and fingers must be kept, during all process of eating, absolutely clean. The dainty eater will keep his plate in order and unearthen the object, which proved to be a dead chicken.

"Ah, ha!" chuckled Reynard, "this comes from keeping one's eyes open on one travels. The hare would not have seen the wolf at all, and the opossum would not have had the patience to wait for him to move on. It's a big joke on the wolf, and he goes for a square meal."

The fox devoured his dinner with much smacking of lips, but had scarcely finished when terrible pains began to rack his frame and he fell down in the greatest torment and was soon breathing his last. When the wolf returned and saw the dead body of raymond and the feathers of the chicken scattered around, he scratched his ear and wrote in his diary:

"Moral: Came to his death by being too smart." -Detroit Free Press.

OUTWITTING THE COURT.

Several years ago when George Francis Train was in Australia, the Captain of an ocean steamer was fined $30,000 in court for ejecting on his latest voyage six male passengers from the ladies' parlor, whose rules forbade their entering that apartment. He had no such sum of money, couldn't raise it, could not appeal, and the delay in sailing would ruin him. Train, who was a spectator, stepped forward and got permission of the court to advise the Captain in private. After the lapse of half an hour he returned, and was about to address the court when one of the magistrates asked where the Captain was. "I don't know," said Train. "He is no client of mine. I left him outside." Search was made, and a line of black smoke in the offing showed that the Captain was off the ship.

SOCIETY TACTICS.

There is no doubt that the great principle of society, smooths down the edges of our thoughts and manners.

Christianity teaches us to love our neighbor as ourselves; modern society recognizes no neighbor.

The maneuvers and tactics of society are infinitely more numerous and infinitely finer than those of war and strategy.

One cannot ask another to meet a person in his own house without going through a sum of moral arithmetic.

Introduction is a formality and a bore, and should never be resorted to by a well-bred host, except in a casual way.

AN EXTENSIVE RANCH.

The Maxwell ranch contains 1,700,000 acres of New Mexico land, and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad passes through it. The man whose name it bears got it by marriage and by purchasing various interests. He has put it into an English stock company, and a fence is being built around it, preparatory to the raising of blooded stock on a large scale.

"AMANDE," he murmured, with pathos in his voice, "why do you quiver at my touch? Why do you shrink from my embrace as the startled fawn trembles at the rustling of the autumn leaves?" "I've been vaccinated," he said.

True most truthful and unimpressive man in the community will, in one week after he becomes the owner of a seter dog, develop into a talented, gaudy and ostentatious liar.

CONVERSATION in a theater lobby between a young man and an elderly guest:

Young man—"I must have seen you some here, sir?" Elderly gent—"Very likely, I am a pawbroke."

A FULL BENCH.

A litigant who had been unsuccessful before a general term of the Supreme Court demanded that his case should be appealed.

"ON what ground?" asked his lawyer.

"On the ground that the court was drunk." "Drunk," repeated the client, "Did you tell me that it was a full bench?" Brooklyn Eagle.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR's sleeping chamber in the White House is an intense sky blue, even the woodwork about the walls, doors and windows being of that vivid hue. The walls are papered with silver, delicately flowered in gold. The furniture, curtains and hangings are blue satin damask, with a very small gold flower on it.
